

I fully support this proposal. It seems to be the best solution to keep the high standards for the Amateur Radio Service. There are many other services that one can pursue if they wish to get involved in a non-technical, no exam required radio hobby. They should look into FRS, CB, GMRS and MURS as alternatives. Amateur Radio Operators need to be well trained and prepared and this proposal seems to fit the bill in ensuring that we maintain our high standards.

Thank you.

James Seifert, AD6WL